EL HERALDO DE BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1986

• About 100 homosexuals, most of them using home-made face masks, demonstrate in front of the Buenos Aires cathedral yesterday to protest against Roman Catholic bishops for "giving another proof of intolerance and authoritarianism in a document supported by Pope John Paul II." They said the document described homosexuality as morally bad. The demonstration was also against Federal Police who were accused of "daily persecuting us by applying unconstitutional regulations." The posters read "End discrimination," "Separation of Church and State," "2,000 years of intolerance, how immoral." and "Messrs bishops, free love is not immoral." (DYN photo)
